ABOUT US

We are Simone and Francesca, a Roman couple with a passion for the world, but a visceral love for the United States of America.

Our Travel SF project was born a bit as a challenge, in April 2018 we decided to confront the rest of the world and try to convey our emotions and our love for travel.

"The best part of the journey is sharing the journey itself."

Through our social channels and the blog we like to share and tell about our travels. Sharing and telling for us means making all those people interested in our adventures participate in what we do, we have created an interest and today people are intrigued by our itineraries and often ask us for more. We try to talk about the structures we stay in, the foods we taste and the places we visit; let us know through our experiences by speaking in stories and writing news and curiosities through our posts and articles.

We like to tell about the places we visit, the people we meet, the beauty of the landscapes we admire and the structures we stay in or the excellent foods we taste.

WHAT DO WE DO

We passionately tell our travels or travel experiences by immortalizing what our eyes see beautiful, and sharing it with our Community.

We put on paper our emotions and what every place in the world arouses us every time we leave. Our goal is to involve and excite those who follow us with interest, a bit like taking them with us, getting them excited, making them want to leave!

We do this through our social channels and by writing articles on the blog written in an SEO key, full of high quality images and useful information.

Most of our readers are people interested in travel. These are men and women, not necessarily couples, who travel often and seek information on how to organize and plan a trip independently, advice on the activities to choose, do and opinions on places to visit.
